

Avnet Abacus, a business unit of Avnet Electronics Marketing EMEA, is a highly focused electronic component distributor, serving original equipment manufacturers and specializing in interconnect, passive, electromechanical and power supply products. Avnet Abacus combines the agility of a smaller, focused company with the considerable global resources of Avnet, Inc., to serve the widely varying requirements of customers.

To strengthen our European Product Marketing Team in Poing (Munich) we are looking for a:

Product Marketing Specialist (m/w) for electro-mechanical products

Main Responsibilities:

- > Support the supplier and product management team
- > Support the line management of our strategic suppliers
- > Material and supplier relevant data integrity, improvement and development in SAP and intranet
- > Maintenance and improvement of the promotional material data in SAP (stock packages, master quotes, sales promotions).
- > Prepare data & presentations for Business reviews, take & circulate agreed actions and ensure follow up & completion.
- > Coordinate the centralized quoting for various EMEA regions and global customers in multiple locations
- > Responsibility for internal reporting to the European Marketing Management
- > Support the Marketing Management in the creation of business plans including marketing strategies and prognoses.

Requirements:

- > Preferably degree educated or demonstrate either a technical background and/or commercial experience
- > Some previous experience of electronics components would be advantageous
- > Ability to communicate professionally with customers, suppliers and colleagues
- > Ability to work under pressure, meet deadlines and manage multiple activities effectively.
- > Team player and be prepared to take responsibility.
- > Confident, decisive, pragmatic and flexible.
- > Communicate effectively in German and English (written and oral).
- > Good computer skills (MS Office, ERP-systems, SAP knowledge preferred).

If you want to feel good about your job, if teamwork and enjoyment at work is important to you, if you value independence and responsibility, if you like to succeed and if you are searching for Diversified tasks in an international company; you are exactly the right person for our team. Performance-related compensation is available.

Interested? Then we are looking forward to receiving your application via email to HR.CE@avnet.eu